

Progress on the National Housing Strategy

JUNE 2023

Canada's National Housing Strategy (NHS) sets a long-term vision that focuses on improving housing outcomes for those in greatest need.

Launched in 2017, the NHS is currently a 10-year, $82+ billion plan to give more people in Canada a place to call home.

The NHS consists of complementary housing programs and initiatives that aim to address needs across the housing continuum, prioritizing Canada's most vulnerable populations.

Progress on the programs and initiatives under the Strategy are updated quarterly or as available.

Federal NHS Initiatives

Key Highlights:

Since the launch of the NHS, CMHC has committed $27.68 billion through Federal NHS Initiatives to support:

- The creation and repair of 238,385 units (112,374 new units and repair to 126,011 units).
 - 192,688 units are currently under construction or have been repaired/built.
- The continuing availability of 41,924 community housing units (FCHI Phase II) where operating agreements expired, through direct support for 9,077 low-income community housing units.

How progress is tracked

Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation tracks and reports on progress at four different phases:

1. Conditional Commitment: funding is earmarked to support the building or repair of units for which formal project agreement is still subject to final approvals and conditions (Letter of Intent is signed);
2. Financial Commitment: formal loan agreement is duly executed and a binding agreement is reached to provide credit under pre-specified terms and conditions (Letter of Agreement is signed);
3. Construction/Repair Underway: in the process of being built or repaired; and,
4. Completed: built or repaired.

Construction Timelines

Construction takes time – it can take years for planning, permitting, site preparation and design for a project to come to fruition. The completion of a new construction or renovated multi-unit affordable housing project can take up to 3 years after the funding is provided.

Funding under the National Housing Strategy can be delivered over several years – extending the time to complete an affordable housing project. See the Road Map for Building a New Home for more details.

Human Rights-Based Approach to Housing

Initiative	Launch Date	Description	Progress to Date
National Housing Strategy Act	N/A	The Act recognizes the right to adequate housing as a fundamental human right affirmed in international law. The Act requires the federal government to maintain a national housing strategy to further housing policy, taking into account key principles of a human rights-based approach to housing, and report to Parliament every three years on the progress towards the strategy's goals and outcomes.	Tabled in Parliament on April 8, 2019, as part of Bill C-97, and received Royal Assent on June 21, 2019. The National Housing Strategy Act came into force on July 9, 2019.
National Housing Council	November 22, 2020	The Council, with diverse representation, will further housing policy by providing advice to the responsible Minister on, among other things, the effectiveness of the National Housing Strategy with the aim of improving housing outcomes.	The Council continues to meet quarterly. The Council has a work plan for 2021-2023 including three priority areas: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1) Progressive Realization of the Right to Adequate Housing, 2) Improving the National Housing Strategy and 3) Urban, Rural and Northern (URN) Indigenous Housing. On April 17, 2023, the National Housing Council submitted a report to the Minister of Housing and Diversity and Inclusion with recommendations on improving the National Housing Strategy. The report entitled Renewing Canada's National Housing Strategy is a comprehensive review of the federal government's national housing strategy, and Canada's progress toward achieving its goals. On April 26, 2023, the National Housing Council announced that the review panel examining the financialization of purpose-built rental housing launched its written hearing process. Oral hearings are expected to commence in fall 2023, with the Panel expected to submit its report in early 2024. The National Housing Council also announced on June 27, 2023, a call for new members to fill current vacancies and address succession planning goals. The application window will be open until August 22, 2023.

Federal Housing Advocate	2020	The Federal Housing Advocate is an appointment by the Governor in Council and supported by the Canadian Human Rights Commission. The Federal Housing Advocate’s mandate includes consulting with members of vulnerable groups and working directly with communities affected by systemic housing issues. The Advocate may request that the National Housing Council establish a review panel to hold a hearing to review any systemic housing issue within federal jurisdiction. The Advocate also monitors and reports annually on their findings related to systemic housing issues that they hear about and associated recommendations.	On February 3, 2022, the Minister of Housing and Diversity and Inclusion announced the appointment of the new Federal Housing Advocate. Read the Minister’s statement. In September 2022, the Federal Housing Advocate requested that the National Housing Council establish a review panel on the financialization of purpose-built rental housing. On December 8, 2022, the Council passed a motion to proceed with the review panel as requested by the Federal Housing Advocate; work is underway. In February 2023, the Federal Housing Advocate launched a formal review of encampments in Canada. In May 2023, the Federal Housing Advocate requested that the National Housing Council establish a review panel on the failure to prevent and eliminate homelessness amongst women and gender-diverse people, particularly Indigenous women, gender-diverse, and Two-Spirit people. On June 14, 2023, the Minister of Housing and Diversity and Inclusion tabled in Parliament the Federal Housing Advocate’s 2022-23 Annual Report and his response to the report.

Federal/Provincial/Territorial NHS Investments

On April 9, 2018, a new Federal/Provincial/Territorial (FPT) Housing Partnership Framework was endorsed by all FPT Ministers responsible for housing (except Quebec), setting the foundation for NHS initiatives cost-matched and delivered by provinces and territories.

The Government has bilateral agreements with all 13 Provinces and Territories representing over $15.2 billion in joint funding over 10 years (2018/19-2027/28) to protect, renew and expand community housing, and support provincial priorities related to housing repair, construction and affordability.

- Alberta: joint investment of $1.1 billion
- British Columbia: joint investment of $1.5 billion
- Manitoba: joint investment of almost $605.4 million
- New Brunswick: joint investment of $397.5 million
- Newfoundland and Labrador: joint investment of $345.0 million
- Northwest Territories: joint investment of $158.6 million
- Nova Scotia: joint investment of $513.8 million
- Nunavut: joint investment of $357.2 million
- Ontario: joint investment of $5.8 billion
- Prince Edward Island: joint investment of $43.4 million
- Quebec: joint investment of $3.7 billion
- Saskatchewan: joint investment of $584.9 million
- Yukon: joint investment of $78.0 million

How progress is tracked

Progress is tracked once claims and/or reporting on progress related to funding commitments from provinces and territories have been received and processed.

Federal/Provincial and Territorial NHS Initiatives

Canada Community Housing Initiative: provides predictable, long-term funding to protect, regenerate and expand social and community housing, including social housing under legacy programs for urban Indigenous households in need.

PT Priority: supports regional needs and priorities, such as increasing the affordable housing supply, maintaining existing stock, and providing financial support to vulnerable Canadians.

Canada Housing Benefit: provides affordability support directly to households in need through programs co-developed with each PT to reflect their unique context and circumstances.

Northern Funding: will help address the unique needs and challenges faced in the North with additional funding for each of the three territories to enhance the other initiatives.

Joint Funding Commitments

Initiative	Total Funding Allocation until 2027/28	Federal Funding Committed	P/T Funding Committed
Canada Community Housing Initiative	$8.6 billion	$830.77 million	$966.0 million
P/T Priorities Funding	$2.2 billion	$684.64 million	$1.42 billion
Canada Housing Benefit	$4.0 billion	$310.29 million	$367.4 million
Northern Funding*	$300 million	$150.00 million	N/A

*Northern Funding does not require Territorial cost-matching.

Update:

We are working with Provinces and Territories to provide an update on the progress of programs under the bilateral agreements and against National Housing Strategy targets. We expect this data will be available shortly.

National Housing Strategy Overall

Key Highlights

- Overall, under the National Housing Strategy, we have made $36.80 billion* in commitments as of June 30, 2023.
- This will support the creation of 113,462 new housing units and 126,011 repaired housing units.
- Funding committed is expected to create 51,041 new affordable housing units, affordability support for 49,172* households as of June 30, 2023.

Women and Their Children

- As of June 30, 2023, the NHS has committed an estimated $10.93 billion towards meeting the housing needs of women and their children, which includes funding for the construction, repair and support of 266,861 housing units.**

Of the $10.93 billion, $2.24 billion is targeting the needs of women and their children, and $8.68 billion is supporting the needs of women and their children.

- This represents 30% of all NHS funding committed.
- Since the numbers above are a percentage of NHS investments and available information will increase with time, the percentage is expected to fluctuate each quarter.

Indigenous and Northern Housing

Improving Housing Conditions (First Nation, Inuit & Métis Housing)

Meeting the housing needs of Indigenous communities is a priority under Canada’s National Housing Strategy. Projects serving the needs of Indigenous peoples and families are prioritized for funding under all National Housing Strategy programs. There is also programming and funding exclusively for Indigenous and Northern housing.

National Housing Strategy Support to Affordable and Community Housing

National Housing Strategy Support to Affordable and Community Housing

NHS initiatives are designed to meet the housing needs of Canadians. These initiatives provide support to the entirety of the housing continuum, an approach that builds upon and complements the historical federal support for community (social) housing that serves Canadians in deepest housing need.

This new approach significantly increases support to the community housing sector through new supply programs such as the National Housing Co-Investment Fund, the Federal Lands Initiative, the Affordable Rental Housing Innovation Fund as well as the Rapid Housing Initiative.

The approach also includes direct support to tenants and through housing providers to help reduce affordability pressures. This builds on support for legacy social housing agreements which were predominantly signed with housing providers between the 1950s and early 1990s, and includes new funding. New funding is being made available under the Federal and Canada Community Housing Initiatives to providers whose legacy agreements are expiring to ensure that they have the necessary support to continue offering community housing to Canadians.

In addition to these initiatives, the NHS is also creating new purpose-built market rental housing through the Rental Construction Financing Initiative, building supply and providing more housing options along the housing continuum.

The NHS provides assistance to households in need through affordable and community housing, figures for this will be available shortly as we work with Provinces and Territories to provide an update.
