Partnerships from all levels of government as well as private and non-profit sectors are a central feature of the federal NHS supply initiatives. Current investments reflect applications received where public and private sector partners have come together to respond to the housing needs of Canadians.

How progress is tracked

Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation tracks and reports on progress at four different phases:

- 1. Conditional Commitment: funding is earmarked to support the building or repair of units for which formal project agreement is still subject to final approvals and conditions (Letter of Intent is signed);
- 2. Financial Commitment: formal loan agreement is duly executed and a binding agreement is reached to provide credit under pre-specified terms and conditions (Letter of Agreement is signed);
- 3. Construction/Repair Underway: in the process of being built or repaired; and,
- 4. Completed: built or repaired.

Human Rights-Based Approach to Housing

Initiative	Launch Date	Description	Progress to Date
National Housing Strategy Act	N/A	The Act recognizes the right to adequate housing as a fundamental human right affirmed in international law. The Act requires the federal government to maintain a National Housing Strategy to further housing policy, taking into account key principles of a human rights-based approach to housing, and report to Parliament every three years on the progress towards the Strategy's goals and outcomes.	Tabled in Parliament on April 8, 2019, as part of Bill C-97, and received Royal Assent on June 21, 2019. The NHS Act came into force on July 9, 2019.
National Housing Council	November 22, 2020	The Council, with diverse representation, will further housing policy by providing advice to the responsible Minister on, among other things, the effectiveness of the National Housing Strategy with the aim of improving housing outcomes.	On National Housing Day, November 22, 2020, the Minister of Families, Children and Social Development launched Canada's first National Housing Council and appointed its members. The Council met 10 times since being established. The Council has a work plan for 2021-2022 including three priority areas: 1) Progressive Realization of the Right to Adequate Housing, 2) Improving the National Housing Strategy and 3) Urban, Rural and Northern (URN) Indigenous Housing. Research reports for each of these priorities have been published and a first set of recommendations on Urban, Rural and Northern Indigenous housing was sent to the Minister in March of 2022. An interim report and letter with recommendations on the progressive realization of the right to adequate housing was also sent to the Minister in August 2022.
Federal Housing Advocate	2020	The Federal Housing Advocate is an appointment by the Governor in Council and supported by the Canadian Human Rights Commission . The Federal Housing Advocate's mandate includes consulting with members of vulnerable groups and working directly with communities affected by systemic housing issues. The Advocate may request that the National Housing Council establish a review panel to hold a hearing to review any systemic housing issue within federal jurisdiction. The Advocate also monitors and reports annually on their findings related to systemic housing issues that they hear about and associated recommendations.	On February 3, 2022, the Minister of Housing and Diversity and Inclusion announced the appointment of the new Federal Housing Advocate, Marie-Josée Houle. Read the Honourable Ahmed Hussen's statement . The Federal Housing Advocate's 2021-2022 Annual Report summarizes the Advocate's activities and proposes recommendations to address systemic housing issues. The Minister of Housing and Diversity and Inclusion tabled both the report and his response to the report in Parliament on June 16, 2022.

How progress is tracked

Information is available to CMHC once claims related to funding commitments from provinces and territories have been received and processed.

Provinces and territories will develop and publicly release action plans every three years to put their planned actions into context and to establish targets. Provinces and territories will also provide a progress report to CMHC every six months that will include progress towards realizing the targets and outcomes set out in the NHS.

Provincial/Territorial NHS Initiatives

Initiative	Launch Date	Funding	Target	Progress to Date*
Funding for Northern Territories	April 1, 2018	$300 million from 2018/19 to 2027/28 (no cost-matching)	Help offset the higher need and cost of housing in the North.	The Territories committed $120.0 million to support 1,439 units, of which 307 are new units, 370 are repair units and 762 are rent supplements.
Canada Community Housing Initiative	2019	$8.6 billion from 2019/20 to 2027/28 (including $4.3 billion of PT cost-matching)	Protect, regenerate and expand community housing administered by provinces and territories, and supported by former federal programs.	Provinces and territories have committed $1.22 billion to support 177,642 units.
PT Priority Funding	2019	$2.2 billion from 2019/20 to 2027/28 (including $1.1 billion in PT cost-matching)	Address distinct provincial and territorial housing needs and priorities, including affordability, repair and construction.	Provinces and territories have committed $1.44 billion to support 205,620 units.
Canada Housing Benefit	April 2020	$4 billion from 2020/21 to 2027/28 (including $2 billion in PT cost-matching)	Financial housing benefit provided directly to families and individuals in housing need.	Addenda signed with 13 provinces and territories. Program under co-development by federal and provincial/territorial governments. Provinces have committed $315 million to support 102,016 households.

* Provinces and Territories make commitments to projects and recipients under the agreements for both federal and cost-matched funding.

 Does not include the households receiving affordability support in Quebec in 2020/21. This information will be included should it become available from Quebec.

NATIONAL HOUSING STRATEGY SUPPORT TO AFFORDABLE AND COMMUNITY HOUSING

National Housing Strategy Support to Affordable and Community Housing

The NHS initiatives are designed to meet the housing needs of Canadians. These initiatives provide support to the entirety of the housing continuum, an approach that builds upon and complements the historical federal support for community (social) housing that serves Canadians in deepest housing need.

This new approach significantly increases support to the community housing sector through new supply programs such as the National Housing Co-Investment Fund, the Federal Lands Initiative, the Affordable Rental Housing Innovation Fund as well as the Rapid Housing Initiative.

The approach also includes direct support to tenants and through housing providers to help reduce affordability pressures. This builds on support for legacy social housing agreements which were predominantly signed with housing providers between the 1950s and early 1990s, and includes new funding. New funding is being made available under the Federal and Canada Community Housing Initiatives to providers whose legacy agreements are expiring to ensure that they have the necessary support to continue offering community housing to Canadians.

In addition to these initiatives, the NHS is also creating new purpose-built market rental housing through the Rental Construction Financing Initiative, building supply and providing more housing options along the housing continuum.

The NHS provides assistance to 248,706 households in need through affordable and community housing:

- NHS commitments to create 47,028 new affordable and community housing units
- Support for 201,678 community housing units through the Federal Community Housing Initiative, the Canada Community Housing Initiative, and other social housing programs
- 102,016 households have access to affordable housing through the Canada Housing Benefit

CONSTRUCTION TIMELINES

Construction takes time – it can take years for planning, permitting, site preparation and design for a project to come to fruition. The completion of a new construction or renovated multi-unit affordable housing project can take up to 3 years after the funding is provided.

Funding under the National Housing Strategy can be delivered over several years – extending the time to complete an affordable housing project. See the Road Map for Building a New Home for more details.
